You can tell how much someone matters to you by how you speak their name. So what does our speech say about how much God matters?

Misusing God's name is more than profanity — it's carelessness. It's posting Bible verses while gossiping online. It's saying "I'll pray for you" and never meaning it. Every careless word speaks volumes about the heart. Think of a friend who constantly uses your name sarcastically or as a joke. You'd feel disrespected. How much more does God deserve better? Jesus said, "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks" (Matthew 12:34).

Our words reveal our worship.

This week, make your speech a testimony. When you use God's name — whether in prayer, praise, or conversation — do it with reverence.

Let people know your God is holy.
