When You Feel Left Out

There's almost nothing worse than feeling invisible.
Seeing pictures of friends hanging out without you. Watching conversations happen around you, but not with you. Feeling like everyone else has a place - except you.

But listen to this promise in Isaiah 41:10

"Fear not, for I am with you... I will strengthen you."

Your worth isn't measured by invitations or group chats.

Jesus Himself knew rejection.

People misunderstood Him, mocked Him, even abandoned Him.

Yet He kept loving people anyway.

Sometimes being left out isn't punishment - it's protection.

God may be keeping you from situations that would hurt you later.

And remember: You're not alone in feeling alone.

Many teens around you feel the same way.

So What Now? Be the person who includes others. The belonging you give often becomes the belonging you receive.
