Have you noticed how cheaply things are made today. It seems I find myself replacing something in my house every week. There are some things in life that simply don't last, and it's not just stuff around the house. Circumstances change. Relationships change. Our health changes. Even the things we once thought we could depend upon may eventually disappear. But Psalm 136 begins with these words: "Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good, for his steadfast love endures forever. Give thanks to the God of gods, for his steadfast love endures forever. Give thanks to the Lord of lords, for his steadfast love endures forever." Throughout this Psalm, that same declaration is repeated again and again: His steadfast love endures forever. What a comforting truth! God's love isn't temporary, conditional, or dependent upon the changing circumstances of our lives. And nowhere do we see that love more clearly than in Jesus Christ, who gave Himself for us.
