What is your legacy? Do you ever wonder what you'll be remembered for? Or how people view you when you leave the room. Our goal in this life should be to love God and love other people. But often times our own selfishness and sinfulness get in the way.

The apostle Paul writes in Galatians 5:16, "But I say, walk by the Spirit, and you will not gratify the desires of the flesh." The idea of walking by the Spirit is living a life that would be pleasing to God and in step with His will. It's simple really—yet profoundly difficult: walk according to the Spirit and not the flesh. When we walk by the Spirit, we'll produce the fruit of the Spirit: love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control.

You're not going to be successful if you just STOP doing bad things, habits, or sinful practices—you need to replace them. And it's not enough to just try to replace them, but you need to transform the entire way you think about your life.
